WEAVERS OF HOPE

A small group of Austin people, who were committed to social justice work, were asked to help a remote Mexican community that had just experienced a catastrophic flood. From those meager beginnings and extensive conversations with many of the Mexican families, Weavers of Hope was born. Today, it is a small, non-profit based in Austin. Since 2003, we have grown from our initial 20 students to having helped over 250 young people in Mexico. With one exception, we are all volunteers, so our administrative costs are very low. Almost 90% of our contributions go directly into the programs which help the students. Fr. Tom will be speaking about this on September 23 - 24 and we will support by having a special collection.
